Tenuta Cantagallo: Chianti Montalbano DOCG

The Cantagallo Estate is property of the Pierazzuoli Family since 1970 and it extends for 200 hectares of vineyards, olive groves and woods on the Tuscan hills just west of Florence. They are in the small appellation of Chianti Montalbano which is known for high quality wines that are extremely approachable yet age-worthy. Both traditional wines such as Chianti and Vin Santo are made as well as modern Super Tuscan style wines. The high density vineyards are roughly 10 to 35 years old, are south facing and are located on 30 hectares on tuff – marl hills.

Chianti Montalbano DOCG, 2018 Sangiovese 100%,
Production 30,000 Bottles
ABV 13.50%

Cantagallo produces a high quality Chianti made from 100% Sangiovese, an unusual choice, but indicative of the commitment to and quality of the Sangiovese at the estate. It is ruby red in color with vibrant red fruit and notes of violet on the nose and palate. It is pleasant on the palate with silky tannins that are unexpected in a young wine.

Chianti Montalbano DOCG,
2016 Chianti DOCG
Sangiovese 100%, Production
20,000 Bottles
ABV 14.50%

This fine Chianti is produced from 100% Sangiovese and spends 12 months in French barriques. The nose is generous, with notes of red fruit, violets, tobacco and cigar ash which repeat on the palate. The palate is much rounder than expected for a Sangiovese, and almost lush.
